

Quality and Environment Policy

Nexans Intercablo, 24/03/2022

Nexans Intercablo renews its constant and daily commitment to have as first objective the satisfaction of its customers' expectations in terms of Quality and Service and in compliance with the applicable Mandatory Regulations and Voluntary Standards.

All this starts from the involvement, at all levels, of the entire company organization. For this reason, one of the main objectives will be the breaking down of all barriers between departments, functions and people, in order to build a common sense of responsibility in facing daily problems and, at the same time, to share the goals achieved as a single team.

This is all part of the new 2024 vision announced by Nexans Group and focused on 3 guidelines (3E model): Engagement, Economics, Environment.

We are convinced that our people are the real engine of the company, in which we must constantly invest in order to increase competencies and open up to new challenges of innovation, capacity and flexibility.

Moreover, in the highly competitive context in which we operate, the constant monitoring and improvement of costs and consumption cannot be ignored: the reduction of internal defects and the optimization of processes contribute to the lever of competitiveness and the increase of company profit, ranking the Pioltello plant among the excellences of the Group (ECONOMICS).

Last but not least among the corporate objectives, the Company is committed to a progressive commitment to the reduction of environmental impacts (ENVIRONMENT), with the ambitious goal of constantly reducing CO2 emissions generated by our plant from now until 2030.

Through a sensitization process addressed to all the Staff, the Company wants to commit itself to the differentiated waste collection, to the progressive elimination of plastic and to the reduction of energy consumption, in particular water and energy (e.g. LED project, solar panels extension).

The Company Management is committed to being the spokesperson and promoter of the above-mentioned Company Policy for Quality and the Environment so that it will be disseminated and applied, renewing the invitation to the active participation of all employees, without whom no goal is achievable or sustainable over time.
